Advanced Analysis of Algorithms

K. Subramani, LCSEE, West Virginia University

September 17, 2013

1. $\log^b n = o(n^\epsilon)$, for all $b, \epsilon > 0$.

2. Recursion (from slides).

3. Divide and Conquer.